HIGH-QUALITY BIRCH VENEER TRAYS

Our birch veneer trays are designed to meet the strict requirements of professional kitchens and other commercial environments. Made from durable natural materials and with a focus on long-term functionality, our trays are a reliable choice for settings that demand both durability and efficiency.

Functional and durable design

The trays feature ergonomically rounded edges that provide a comfortable grip and make handling easier. The rounded design increases durability by improving resistance to impacts, which extends the product's lifespan. During machine washing, the edge helps break the water jet, making the washing process gentler and maintaining the tray's durability over time.

A sustainable investment

Our lunch trays offer both functionality and cost efficiency. They are a long-term choice for professional environments seeking durable and reliable products for daily use. Manufactured in Sweden, with a strong focus on quality and user-friendliness, our birch veneer trays are a perfect solution for streamlining work in professional kitchens and commercial environments.

FEATURES

- Made of durable birch veneer for a long lifespan
- Rounded edges for increased impact resistance, improved ergonomics, and longer durability through repeated machine washing
- Dishwasher safe in industrial machines up to +95°C
- Food contact tested (EU)
- FSC®-certified (C141649) material
- Backside: white, with Formpress logo

OUR WORK WITH SUSTAINABILITY

At Formpress, we are committed to quality, sustainability and ethical business practices. We take responsibility throughout the entire chain – from manufacturing at our factory on the island of Öland to the long-term partnerships we build with customers, suppliers and employees. Our ambition is to combine timeless design and functionality with sustainable practices that make a lasting difference.

Quality and certifications

For us, quality means both durable products and clear processes. We are ISO 9001 certified, confirming our systematic quality management and ISO 14001 certified to ensure an effective environmental management system. In addition, we are FSC®-certified (C141649), guaranteeing that our wood-based products come from responsibly managed forests. These certifications are an important testament to our long-term commitment to both customers and the environment.

Ethics and responsibility

We strive to be a reliable and transparent partner. As a Sedex member and through regular SMETA audits, we are reviewed in areas such as working conditions, environmental practices and business ethics. Our Code of Conduct is rooted in the UN Global Compact principles and the ILO core conventions. We aim to be a workplace where people can grow and thrive, with fair conditions and equal opportunities for everyone. We believe diversity and collaboration are sources of both well-being and innovation.

Sustainability in practice

Sustainability is also about how we produce. We actively work to minimize our environmental impact by reducing energy and material consumption, recycling waste and sourcing raw materials from suppliers within the EU. Our products are made of birch veneer or MDF combined with melamine resin, making them durable and water-resistant. This allows us to offer products that are not only beautiful and functional, but also a long-term and reliable choice for professional environments.

DECOR-PATTERN TRAYS

Our decor-pattern trays are a popular choice within hotels, restaurants and cafés. They are available in sizes 43x33 cm and 36x28 cm and manufactured from the finest birch veneer at our factory on Öland.

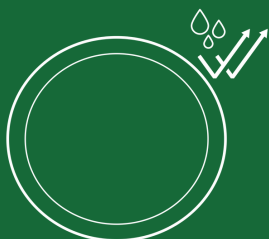

We now launch an updated collection with new decors – inspired by classic wood types such as oak, walnut, ash and mahogany. The designs bring a timeless character that blends seamlessly into many different settings, while enhancing the presentation of food in a natural and elegant way.

Like all our trays, the decorative trays are designed for professional use. They are impact-resistant, dishwasher safe up to 95°C and feature ergonomic edges for a safe and comfortable grip. This makes them a long-term and sustainable choice for daily service.

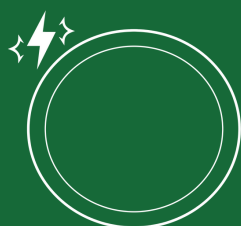

SOFT AND COMFORTABLE

The rounded edges make the tray comfortable to hold and provide a safe, ergonomic grip – even during heavier service. They are pleasant to use, whether in a restaurant setting or for serving at home.

DISHWASHER SAFE

The rounded edge helps break the water jet in the dishwasher, reducing wear and extending the tray's lifespan. Our trays withstand up to 95°C in industrial dishwashers, making them perfect for frequent use.

IMPACT RESISTANT

The edge acts as a natural shock absorber that protects both the lacquer and decor from knocks and scratches. This ensures the tray maintains its appearance longer and withstands the demands of everyday use.

CUSTOM DESIGN

Every detail matters in the guest experience. By adding your own design to our trays, you create a consistent identity that strengthens your brand and makes the serving experience more personal.

Your logo, your pattern or colors that reflect the interior – the possibilities are many. With custom trays, you can create a strong visual identity throughout the entire business, from interior and menu to serving. Guests encounter a thoughtful and unique identity at every step.

Whether you want to profile a restaurant, hotel chain, café or a specific campaign, we offer flexible solutions and guide you through the process. Production takes place in our factory on Öland with the same high quality and durability as the rest of our range – tailored for professional use in hotels, restaurants and cafés. The result is trays that not only facilitate daily work but also strengthen the overall guest experience.

ECO NON-SLIP FULL OR PARTLY CORK

Looking for a sustainable tray with a non-slip surface that keeps glasses and items securely in place, while also being dishwasher safe and durable? Our Eco Non-Slip trays are the natural choice.

Like all our trays, they are made from carefully selected high-quality birch veneer. We work exclusively with suppliers who guarantee both durability and premium quality.

For many years, we have developed a solution to prevent items from sliding, without compromising on sustainability or functionality. After testing various materials, we are proud to present our natural solution: cork. Cork provides a durable and functional surface while being a renewable and eco-friendly material.

We offer trays with either full or partly cork coverage on the front surfaces, depending on your needs and preferences.

Product features:

- Developed and tested for professional use in restaurants and bars
- Firm grip: glasses and items stay in place on the cork-covered surface, while the rest of the tray can be customized to your own design (partly cork)
- Made of premium birch veneer
- Robust and durable construction
- The cork surface is natural and may vary in color and texture over time
- Stain resistance cannot be guaranteed

NEWS: WILLIAM MORRIS SOCIETY COLLECTION

William Morris (1834–1896) was a pioneer of the Arts and Crafts movement and his iconic patterns continue to influence interior design and decoration worldwide. Through our exclusive collaboration with the William Morris Society, we are now able to offer his classic patterns on serving trays – a perfect solution for creating a unique and stylish atmosphere in restaurants, hotels and cafés.

Our serving trays featuring William Morris patterns combine traditional craftsmanship with functionality and durability, making them ideal for professional environments that demand quality and resilience, while reinforcing your visual identity.

Through our collaboration with the William Morris Society, we now offer a core collection with four of his most popular patterns. This way, we can offer a design that carries both history and artistic quality, while meeting the functional and aesthetic requirements of our customers.

All our trays carry the William Morris Society copyright, making them even more exclusive. By using these timeless patterns, you can elevate the guest experience and create an atmosphere of both tradition and high-end design.

Order your William Morris-inspired serving trays today and add a unique and stylish dimension to your guest experience.
